Meerut

Meerut is located to the North-East of New Delhi, in the state of Uttar Pradesh. This city is halfway between the Ganges and Yamuna. It occupies an area of about 311 sq. km. with a dense population of about 9 lakhs.

The district of Meerut is named after its Headquarter city Mayrashtra and is said to be associated with the earliest traditions of the Hindus, according to which Maya, the father-in-law of Ravana, founded this place, which is therefore called Maidant- Ka- Khera. Meerut was one of the sixteen major towns of Ashokan times; therefore an Ashokan pillar was erected here. Meerut owes its modern importance to its selection by the British Government as the site of a great military system. Its Cantonment was established in 1806. It was declared as separate district in 1818.

Meerut is known for many things such as scissors, cricket bats and sporting gear.

Meerut is especially famous for one thing, due to which it has entered the History books- the SEPOY MUTINY started off in May 1857 under Mangal Pandey ji.

Some spots in Meerut worth a visit are Jain Temples at Hastinapur, St. John's Church, Augarnath Temple, Jama Masjid, Martyr's Memorial, Gandhi Bagh, Shapeer's Mausoleum, Shahi Eid Gaah, Parikshitgarh, Dargah of Baley Miyan and Suraj Kund.

Neighboring places of Interest:

New Delhi, Haridwar, Rishikesh, Dehradun and Mussorie are some of the spots along this route, worth visiting with family and friends.
